

Fourth Newsletter of the AGORA Project

January 2014

Dear AGORA followers,
after the Christmas break there's some important news to be shared with all of you!

AGORA'S FINAL CONFERENCE

We are pleased to announce that the final conference of the Agora Project will take place in Rome on March 19, 2014. You are all invited!
Details on the Final Conference will be furnished soon on the Agora website.

NEW ONLINE JOURNALS AND PROJECT PORTALS

Lexicon Philosophicum is now online! The Nordic Wittgenstein Review has new OA publications, and Call for papers for both Journals' next Issues are open!

- In December 2013 the Inaugural Issue of "Lexicon Philosophicum: International Journal for the History of Texts and Ideas" has been released. To find it, let's click on the following link: <http://lexicon.cnr.it/index.php/LP/index>. We hope you will enjoy the reading!
PLEASE NOTE: the Call for papers for the Second Issue of Lexicon Philosophicum just re-opened and will expire in January 31, 2014. More info at: <http://lexicon.cnr.it/index.php/LP/announcement>
- Between August and November 2013 the Issue 1, Volume 2 of the Nordic Wittgenstein Review has been fully OA published on the dedicated website: <http://www.nordicwittgensteinreview.com/index>
PLEASE NOTE: the Call for papers for Issue 3, Volume 2 of the Nordic Wittgenstein Review will expire in January 31, 2014. More info at: <http://www.nordicwittgensteinreview.com/announcement>

For further and ongoing updates on Agora OA publications keep visiting the mentioned websites, and don't forget Nietzsche Source (<http://www.nietzschesource.org/>) and Daphnet Portal (<http://www.daphnet.org/>).

EVENTS AND MEETINGS

As usual during the last months Agora people participated in a number of conferences and events.

Yrsa Neuman displayed a poster at the “Open Access Monographs in the Humanities and Social Sciences conference (#OAbooks)”, held in London on July 1-2. You can view the poster at this link.

On July 18, Cristina Marras and Antonio Lamarra presented the contribution “Scholarly Open Access Research in Philosophy: Limits and Horizons of a European Innovative Project” at the conference “Digital Humanities 2013” (July 16-19, Lincoln University, Nebraska. Program).

Cristina Marras participated in “EVA/MINERVA 2013: The 10th Jerusalem Conference on the Digitisation of Cultural Heritage” (November, 12-13, Van Leer Institute, Jerusalem. Program), with the presentation “Digital Archives of Philosophical Texts on the NET: Digital Tools for Research and Education in Philosophy”.

Yrsa Neuman presented the Agora Business Models Experiment at the “8th Munin Conference on Scholarly Publishing 2013 – Entering the Next Stage” (University of Tromsø, Norway, November 25-26. Presentations PDFs), with the contribution “Two Open-Access Experiments in HSS: Journal and Monograph Publishing”.

Michela Tardella spoke at “2nd AIUCD Annual Conference 2013 on Collaborative Research Practices and Shared Infrastructures for Humanities Computing” (Padova, December 11-12, 2013. Program), presenting the paper written with Cristina Marras “From Texts Indexing to the Daphnet Portal: New Tools for Research in Philosophy”.

On the same occasion Antonio Lamarra participated in the round table “Digital Resources and Network Services for the Digital Humanities Research”.

Follow us on

Facebook page “European Project AGORA”
(<http://www.facebook.com/pages/European-Project-AGORA/424396384306638>)

Keep in touch visiting our website: <http://www.project-adora.org/>

